1. Introduction

This document sets out how Panch Pardhani UK will implement, through eight projects, the resolutions adopted at its meetings on 7 February, 30 May and 24 October 2026. For each project, it identifies the relevant resolutions, the approach to implementation and the intended outcomes.

Panch Pardhani UK's Mission and Policy Statements are published on its Policy page, and its adopted resolutions on its Strategy page. These documents are the authoritative statements of the organisation's purpose, principles and agreed positions. This document guides their implementation; it does not amend or supersede them. Where any ambiguity arises, the adopted texts take precedence.

2. Strategy: how we work

Panch Pardhani UK brings people and institutions together, coordinates agreed work and reviews progress. Participation is voluntary, and participants retain responsibility for their own decisions and activities.

The programme builds on existing work across the community, drawing on established knowledge, experience and skills to make effective use of available resources.

The programme will be reviewed at Panch Pardhani UK's meetings and adjusted in the light of experience. Any decision to add, remove or substantially change a project will be formally recorded, together with the reasons for that decision.

3. Implementation: putting it into practice

The eight projects are set out in Section 4, with reference codes PP_P1 to PP_P8.

The projects begin with respect for Guru Granth Sahib as the foundation of Sikh life, followed by research and education to deepen understanding. They then address institutional accountability, fair dispute resolution and open public dialogue, before turning to Sikh participation in British democracy and sovereignty in the Sikh homeland. This order presents the programme's progression; projects may run concurrently.

Detailed delivery and review arrangements for each project are available on the Projects page.

4. Projects

The list of projects developed by Panch Pardhani UK is available on the Strategy page in a file named Panchpardhani_Strategy_Projects.
